

CSI Design Columbus

March 29, 2007 – 3-8 p.m.

Located at Columbus State Community College
Academic D building on Cleveland Avenue

Design Columbus is an annual event that offers members of the commercial design and construction community the opportunity to view the latest products and technologies, as well as learn from industry-leading speakers. It will provide multiple opportunities for professionals to acquire continuing education learning units on various subjects. The event also will include more than 25 vendors, allowing participants an opportunity to quickly see the construction industry's most recent innovative products, technologies and services.
